“ My deepest sympathies and condolences to the Flaherty family. I knew Dan back in the 80s and 90s. Mostly, we hung out at shows or around Oakland, down at Eide's or wherever. He was a character, sharp wit, incisive intellect, a musical mind. Never had a dull time with Dan. He was always in the middle of the action, always had a good connect, always ready to throw down. I'll remember him fondly in his usual attire, laughing at the world, middle fingers fully extended and waving, like a mad conductor, leading a symphony of the damned playing the final cacophony of a dying world. So long, old friend. You lived it like few others. At full volume. Steve R. Yeager, Bradfordwoods, PA, 9/30/23.
